72. One possible version:

This spring, I studied online at home. As well as having online lessons every day, I did a lot of interesting things and learned some new skills, such as cooking.

My parents were busy working, so I decided to learn to cook. First, I searched for information about tomatoes and eggs on the Internet. Then I started to break the eggs and cut the tomatoes carefully. After everything was ready, I began to cook them. To my surprise, it was delicious! I was very excited. When my parents got home, they were happy to see I could look after myself. How proud I was!

Cooking made my life at home colourful. I love it!

My Life in 2035

What will life be like in 2035? Let me imagine it.

People will wear clothes which are made of special materials. A new robot can help me do many things at the same time, such as cleaning the floor, cooking and so on. Children can use a high-tech computer to do homework. And everybody will be able to go to space by taking the rocket! How meaningful and creative the life in 2035 will be!

A Different Holiday

This summer I had a very different and meaningful holiday. I became a volunteer in the Children's Home. I did the cleaning and helped the kids there with their study. The kids seemed a little sad, so I sang songs and told stories to make them happy. Although I was very tired sometimes,

I thought the work was very meaningful.

There are not only human beings but also animals on the Earth. Many kinds of animals have become endangered, and some of them have even disappeared from the Earth. So it's very important to protect the animals now.

How to protect them? In my opinion, we should rescue the endangered animals, protect the wild animals from being killed, as well as protect the animals' homes. Also we should call on all the classmates, friends and families to help protect the animals. We humans and animals should live in a harmonious environment together.
