An experience of making progress

Dear teachers and fellow students, I'm here to share one of my experiences of making progress.

When I entered high school, I found everybody in my class was good at English except me. I had a small vocabulary and had difficulty understanding the passages. However, I didn't lose heart. I went to my English teacher, who advised me to use a dictionary while reading and try to get what the passages conveyed to me. I worked harder, following my teacher's advice. Gradually, I felt better while reading and began to find English interesting.

Now I have already caught up with my classmates in English study. This experience gives me a better understanding of the saying: Nothing is too difficult to a willing heart.

My favourite way to relax

There are many ways to relax, and my favourite way to relax is hiking. At the age of 12, I went hiking with my parents for the first time. And I have been in love with it since then. I go hiking with my friends or parents on weekends. We can enjoy the fresh air and the peaceful country scene. Also, we can have a talk happily.

Relaxing is very important for me. If I keep studying for a long time without relaxing, I'll feel very tired, and I'll even have a headache. This is bad for my health. If I relax myself by hiking, I'll feel happy and energetic. All in all, relaxing is good for my body and mind.

Today I will share a story of my own experience. One day during the new year holiday, I met an old beggar on the street. When I said "Happy New Year." to him, he was very surprised, and then tears appeared in his eyes. He told me nobody had said blessing words to him. He insisted on giving me the lucky money. I didn't refuse the money, but I bought a lot of food and clothes for him, which were worth more than the lucky money. We were both very happy. We both felt the warmth in the cold winter because of the kindness.

It is important for us to make the right choice in life. I enjoy sports, and I choose running as my hobby, which is good for my health.

I still remember, when I was six years old, I ran twice a week with my dad. At first, I felt tired and bored. But my father encouraged me a lot. Also, I found I could even win. So I kept it. Now, I am in very good condition. And running has become part of my life.

All my experiences have shown my choice is right. I believe no matter what you choose, you should keep going.

A travel changed me

I travelled to the Jinggang Mountain last summer, and the journey changed me a lot. At first, I thought it was a normal journey, and what I only saw was the beautiful scenery. However, as I stayed there longer, I got to know that the mountain was famous as the revolutionary base of Chinese Red Army, and I also had a deep understanding about the hard life that the Red Army had lived. The journey not only made me value the happy days we own, but also taught me that I should not forget the past hard days. It really changed me a lot!

My favourite place

Last month I went to Beijing with my parents. We visited the Great Wall. It is a long wall built in the ancient times to defend against the enemies. When we were walking on the Great Wall, we could see the beautiful scenery around us. We took many photos. We shouted, "One who fails to reach the Great Wall is not a hero" on the Great Wall. The Great Wall is my favourite place, because it is a place full of beauty and history.

On my ninth birthday, my parents bought me a bike as a present. Since then, riding has become a great way for me to keep healthy.

When I was little, I was not an active girl and I didn't like sports. In fact, I stayed at home alone most of the time. After I got the bike, I started to get out of the house and ride my bike in the neighbourhood. Sometimes I even choose to ride to school. I have ridden my bike for six years so far. I have made some friends while riding.

I think riding is a great sport. Thanks to it, I'm more active and in better condition.

Dear fellow students,

Now more and more people take part in the voluntary work. In my opinion, the work is very meaningful. It can not only help others to deal with difficulties, but also improve our social abilities. Besides, we will feel very happy after finishing the voluntary work. There are many kinds of voluntary work. For example, we can clean the community, help the elderly in the old people's home, and organise activities to raise money for disaster areas. It is such meaningful work that we students should take part in it.
